| 10:00 a.m. | <ul> <li>Roundtable Discussion</li> <li>Carine Feyten, Chancellor, Texas Woman's University</li> <li>Service / Operations Delivery: Currently, what factors in the economy do you think are most likely to disrupt your ability to meet the needs of the people you serve? How might this impact any of your organization's future plans?</li> <li>Labor Markets: How have the labor markets in your local communities changed in the last 6 months? What barriers are you and/or local partners experiencing around workers returning to or finding work, or employers' ability to recruit? What barriers disproportionately impact low- and moderate-income households?</li> <li>Childcare: What are you and local partners seeing or experiencing around childcare in your community (including but not limited to access to childcare, quality of childcare, affordability, language / cultural needs, etc.)? How does childcare (or a lack thereof) impact your local economy? Please share about any promising partnerships, practices, or initiatives that are happening in your community to address childcare needs.</li> <li>New, Notable Observation: What, if any, emerging issues are you seeing as it relates to community or economic development in historically underresourced communities?</li> </ul> |
