

■ Ben Bernanke would like to have a word with you...

Conversation with the Chairman

This town hall event is an opportunity to join educators across the country to hear from Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke.

When you prepare for the next school year late this summer, take some time to have a “Conversation with the Chairman.” The conversation will be just that, as Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke will address educators nationwide via videoconference on August 7, 2012. His special live message will focus on the critical need for personal finance education in the wake of the recent financial crisis. After his remarks, Bernanke will take questions from educators who will be gathered at sites across the country.

Date: August 7

Locations: Dallas
Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas
2200 N. Pearl St., Dallas, TX 75201

El Paso
El Paso Branch
301 E. Main St., El Paso, TX 79901

Houston
Houston Branch
1801 Allen Parkway, Houston, TX 77019

Note: In San Antonio, the videoconference will be incorporated into the Global Economic Forum agenda. See page 6.

Time: Please visit www.dallasfed.org/educate/events for times for each location.

Fee: There is no fee for this event.

Credit: Participants will receive a certificate for professional development credit hours.