Texas job growth slowed to 2.9 percent in October and is 4.7 percent year-to-date. The state is growing faster than the nation, where jobs are up 3.3 percent year-to-date.

- Texas employment is now forecast to grow 4.3 percent in 2022 (Dec./Dec.).
- Job growth, including the forecast, remain above Texas’ trend which is 2 percent.

Texas economy remains in expansion but is slowing.

- According to the Dallas Fed’s Texas Business Outlook Surveys, economic activity is growing at a below-average pace.
- Higher oil and gas prices benefit the Texas economy on net and should result in growth this year at a pace that exceeds the nation. However, equipment and labor shortages are among the factors slowing the ramp up of oil and gas production.

- Risks to the outlook include inflation, higher interest rates, tight labor markets, supply chain bottlenecks, and spillover from the Russia-Ukraine war.

Dallas Fed Texas jobs forecast now 4.3 percent

The Dallas Fed Texas Employment Forecast is based on the average of four models. Three models are VARs where Texas payroll employment is regressed on WTI oil prices, the US leading index and the Texas leading index, respectively. The fourth model is a regression of payroll employment on expectations for U.S. GDP growth and WTI oil prices, four COVID-19 dummy variables (March-June, 2020) and projected Texas COVID-19 hospitalizations from the Institute for Health and Metrics Evaluation.
