Michael Sposi joined the Dallas Fed in August 2012. He has previously served as a visiting scholar at the St. Louis Fed. His research explores the role of international trade in explaining international prices, as well as the links between international trade and the process of economic development. He holds a PhD in economics from the University of Iowa.

Valerie Grossman has been a research assistant in the Globalization and Monetary Policy Institute since July 2012. A native of Dallas, she graduated summa cum laude from SMU in May 2012 with a BS in economics and a BA in advertising, receiving both departments’ top academic achievement awards. While attending SMU, she was also a research assistant for Dr. Isaac Mbiti’s work on Kenyan remittances.
